

Challenge: Replace Antique Storefront & Panel Sections, Matching Shape & Color

Matching historic storefronts in Boston gave Weiss Sheet Metal a chance to spotlight their unique fabrication capabilities.

This renovation project presented a unique challenge to Weiss, and offered a terrific opportunity to show our capabilities. The client was looking for a radiused bull nose custom bent shape which would match the original wood trim of the building's storefront. The new aluminum trim was then painted gold to match the original gold paint used for the building.

Lengthy submittals to the architect were required to complete the project, and Weiss proved once again that theirs was a "golden" firm to work with. They worked within the constraints of modern day tooling to provide exactly what the architect wanted. The renovation was a classic success.
